Fieldstone Leadership Network San Diego

About the Fieldstone Circle

In these uncertain times, leadership can feel lonely and overwhelming. The Fieldstone Circle invites nonprofit leaders to gather in a supportive environment to reflect on challenges, build resilience, and nurture meaningful connections with others navigating similar experiences.

Rooted in the Courage & Renewal approach, these sessions provide space to pause, reflect, and find resilience in community. Each month, we center the gathering around a leadership reflection designed to foster grounding, insight, and encouragement.

As a leader, you hold space for so many people: your staff, clients, donors, and community members. This is our time to hold space for you, so you are fortified to continue your important work.

The Fieldstone Circle is co-hosted by Courage & Renewal Facilitators Sue Carter Kahl and Janine Mason, who will bring their expertise and warmth to each gathering.

The Circle will be offered in a hybrid format of in-person and online sessions. All sessions, including the online gatherings, are designed for personal reflection and group interaction. They include invitations for participation in breakout rooms as well as a large group discussion.

Come as you are.

Leave grounded, connected, and strengthened.
