

Rapid Response to COVID-19

Supporting Long Term Success

In alignment with our values of continuous learning, trust and confidentiality and cultivation of care, we worked quickly to respond to the ever-changing situation presented by COVID-19. Within three days, our programs were ready to continue in an online environment. Programs were delivered in new formats without any break in service. We continued to offer hospitable and safe spaces for leaders to learn and to offer and receive support from staff and peers and we crafted new learning opportunities and resources to assist nonprofit executives leading during this unprecedented time. In the spirit of reciprocity and collaboration, and with an eye toward diversity and inclusion, we joined forces with other San Diego leaders and organizations to bring resources to the nonprofit community and to prepare for the generative thinking and action that will be required for our recovery.
